

The MOSAIC Postdoctoral Career Transition Award to Promote Diversity (K99/R00) program targets applicants in dependent positions (such as postdoc) who have no more than 4 years of postdoctoral research experience. The mechanism provides 2 years of support at the postdoctoral level followed by 3 years of support for independent research contingent upon the acquisition of an independent faculty position. The appropriate candidate will still need a 1-2 year training period before starting a faculty position and establishing their independent research program and address MOSAIC’s goal to enhance diversity of the biomedical workforce. To be eligible for the MOSAIC K99/R00 through the NIBIB, the candidate should meet the above requirements and propose research and training in one or more of the Scientific Program Areas supported by the institute.
